ABSTRACT

This directory is a resource guide to early childhood education training programs in postsecondary institutions operating in the United States, Guam, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. Included in this directory is information on approximately 1,500 universities, two- and four-year colleges, technical institutes, and occupationally oriented vocational schools. The information in each entry varies and is dependent on the institution's response to the survey of early childhood professional preparation programs. The minimum entry contains the name and address of the institution, while the most comprehensive entry contains the institutional name and address, program name, degrees offered, contact person's name and telephone number, the number of credits or courses required for the degrees, the system (semester or quarter), and the required field work hours. The directory is organized alphabetically by state or territory, and within each state, cities are listed in alphabetical order. Colleges within the same city are listed in alphabetical order. (SM)

The Council for Early Childhood Professional Recognition was founded in 1985 through the efforts of the National Association for the Education of Young Children. The Council administers the Child Development Associate National Credentialing Program, providing uniform procedures for assessing the competence of early childhood caregivers. The Council works to improve the professional status of early childhood workers and is helping to meet the growing need for qualified child care staff by creating a national training system, The Child Development Associate Professional Preparation Program.

INTRODUCTION

"The National Directory for Early Childhood Training Programs in Postsecondary Institutions" was compiled in 1988-89. The Directory lists all institutions of postsecondary education* which offer formal training in early childhood/child development in the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. As of February 1989, there were 1488 entries including 558 with expanded entries (types 2 & 3, see Listings).

The information on these postsecondary institutions came from the data received from the 1987-88 survey "Early Childhood Professional Preparation Programs" developed by the Council for Early Childhood Professional Recognition and the National Association for the Education of Young Children. Names of institutions came from "Peterson's Guide to Two-Year Colleges 1987" and "Peterson's Guide to Four-Year Colleges 1987." The final source for addresses of colleges was the "1986 Directory of Postsecondary Institutions," Center for Education Statistics, U.S. Department of Education.

Early childhood training is conducted by a variety of providers including many child care centers; however, the Directory is limited to those institutions providing postsecondary education in the early childhood/child development area. Included in the Directory are universities, two- and four-year colleges, technical institutes and occupationally-oriented vocational schools. Within institutions, programs were located in a variety of departments such as Child Care, Child and Family Studies, Child Development, Child Psychology, Curriculum and Instruction, Early Childhood Education, Education, Home Economics, Human Development, Special Education, etc. Early childhood education spans birth through third grade though not all programs covered the entire range.

UPDATE OF THE DIRECTORY:

The Directory will be updated periodically. If your institution is not listed or if you wish to add, delete or change information, copy the Update form in the back of the Directory and mail to:
